Peer Tutoring Program office hours are 10 am to 4:30 pm, Monday through Friday, in C. A. Johnson 223. Contact Mary O'Neill, Academic Support Coordinator, at x4374 or moneill to set up an appointment to discuss your tutoring needs and to fill out a tutor request card.

The Quantitative Literacy Center, in C. A. Johnson 224 is open for drop-in tutoring 2-4 p.m. Sunday, 4-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 7-9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday. Look for flyers with the current schedule.

QLIT. CENTER ADDS HOURS!

Responding to requests from students, the Quantitative Literacy Center has expanded its hours to include more afternoon sessions. Starting this semester, students can drop in to get help with Bio, Chem, Econ, Math and Physics every afternoon from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. This gives students twenty hours a week to drop in for help in their quantitative courses.

QUESTIONS ABOUT THE QLIT. REQUIREMENT?

This requirement should be fulfilled by the end of your second year at Hamilton. If you have questions about the Quantitative Literacy Requirement and your responsibilities, check the College catalogue, consult your advisor, and contact Mary O'Neill at x4374, moneill

Study Skills 101: Getting Academic Help

At times during your college career, you will have topics and problems that you do not understand. It could be as simple as getting help finding an answer to a math problem; it could be a need to understand how data fits in with an historic topic; it could be needing someone to help you practice use of grammar in another language.

There is academic help of all kinds on this campus, and it is the GOOD student who utilizes all of the resources.

Here are people to see and places to go for academic support. See the College catalogue for more information about help.

1. Your Professors
2. Departmental Review Sessions
3. The Library
4. Nesbitt-Johnston Writing Center
5. ITS computer labs and clusters
