Basic Claim Information:

We can only reimburse eligible medical expenses* after you have received the care or service. This is when you have incurred the expense. This is true even if you have already paid, or have been billed or charged, for the service. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) requires that you incur the eligible expense before you can be reimbursed.

Example: If you purchase a product (e.g., eyeglasses, durable medical equipment, etc.), the incurred date is the date that your provider submitted the order.

If you send in a claim for a service that you have not yet received, we will deny the claim. Once you do incur the expense, you can resubmit the claim. Please see the next section to know what type of supporting documentation is required for your expenses.

* Eligible medical expenses include amounts paid for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, and for treatments affecting any part or function of the body. The expenses must be primarily to alleviate or prevent a physical or mental defect or illness. Expenses solely for cosmetic reasons generally are not expenses for medical care. Also, expenses that are merely beneficial to one's general health are not expenses for medical care. If you are unsure of an expense, please refer to the list of common eligible health care expenses on the Inspira Financial member website.

Please Note: All spending accounts have limitations and exclusions. This information is general in nature for informational purposes only. Please refer to your plan documents for information specific to your plan.

Health Care Claims for Flexible Spending Account (FSA), Limited Purpose FSA (may also be referred to as Limited Scope or Limited Account), Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA), Limited Purpose HRA (may also be referred to as Limited Scope or Limited Account) or Retiree Reimbursement Account (RRA)

If you have medical, dental, prescription drug or vision insurance coverage, you must first submit the expense to your insurance company. Once your insurance carrier has made its decision, you'll receive an Explanation of Benefits (EOB). The EOB will show how much you have to pay for the expense. You can then submit your claim for reimbursement. Include the EOB with your claim.

If you have more than one insurance plan, you'll need to first submit the expense to all the plans. This is Coordination of Benefits (COB). You'll need to submit all of the EOBs for each expense.

Note: If you have a Limited Account that covers expenses incurred after you have reached your deductible, the EOB will show when you have met your health plan deductible.

If you do not have insurance coverage for the expense, you must include an itemized receipt or statement from the provider. The itemized receipt or statement must include:

- Provider name and address
- Patient name
- Description or Type of service
- Date of service (not date of payment)
- Dollar amount charged for the expense

Note: If you don't include the itemized receipt or statement, your claim will be denied. We cannot use a cancelled check, credit or debit card receipt, or billing statement that shows "previous balance", "balance forward", or "estimated, filed and pending insurance" as documentation.

Note: For expenses from a medical, vision, dental, over-the-counter or pharmacy online vendor, the online URL website address satisfies the Provider Name and address requirement.

Documentation for prescription drugs must include:

- Provider name and address
- Patient name
- Date the prescription was filled or ordered
- Prescription drug name or number
 - > Prescription drug name (required for certain Limited Accounts)
- Dollar amount charged for the prescription

You'll find this information on the pharmacy itemized receipt. You can also ask your pharmacist for a print-out of your prescriptions for a specific time period. If you use a cash register receipt, it must clearly show that it's for a prescription medication (e.g., prescription, RX, RX with corresponding RX number).

The receipt for over-the-counter (OTC) items including OTC drugs and medicines must clearly identify:

- Merchant name and address
- Name of the purchased OTC item
 - > If receipt does not have the full name of the product, you may submit one of the following:
 - complete product label with the purchase price
 - complete product label and receipt with the purchase price
- Date purchased
- Amount charged for the OTC item (see also below for 'OTC drugs and medicines')

For OTC items such as vitamins and supplements you need a Letter of Medical Necessity (LOMN). These are items that are generally used to maintain good health and not to treat a medical condition. See the Letter of Medical Necessity (LOMN) section below for more information.

To receive reimbursement for Orthodontia expenses, you must include the orthodontia treatment contract with your first claim for this service. The treatment contract must include:

- Patient Name
- Total Case Fee
- Estimated Insurance Benefits
- Initial down payment
- Start date or Banding date
- Duration or Length of treatment
- Monthly payment
- Proof of full payment for the orthodontic services

You must also include the itemized statement, ledger or receipt from the orthodontist. This statement must show the monthly charge and/or payment.

You may set up your orthodontia payments for automatic monthly reimbursement.

- When you submit your orthodontia treatment contract with your first claim, you may check the Automatic Monthly Reimbursement box on the claim form.
- If you choose this option, we'll automatically reimburse you each month, according to the contract amount. You won't need to submit a claim every month.

Medical Travel Expenses may include parking, mileage, travel, meals and lodging. Refer to the information below for the type of expense you have. Expenses must be primarily for and essential to eligible medical care and allowable under your employer's plan.

- Parking or mileage needed to receive medical care:
 - > Parking – You'll need to include the parking receipt and documentation of the medical care. This can be an EOB or itemized receipt.
 - > Mileage – On the claim form, enter the total number of miles as a separate expense. Multiply the round trip miles by the per-mile medical rate that the IRS allows. You'll need to include documentation of the medical care with the claim. This can be an EOB or itemized receipt.
- Travel and Transportation:
 - > Travel expenses must be for the care of a specific medical condition. An example of an eligible travel expense is the cost of airfare for care at a hospital that specializes in your medical condition.
 - > When submitting the claim you must include documentation of the medical condition and the need for the travel.
- Meals and Lodging:
 - > Meals – You can claim the cost of meals that are part of in-patient care. This includes meals at a hospital or other facility as long as the main reason for being there is to receive medical care.
 - > Lodging – The cost of lodging is limited to $50 per night per person, up to a total of $100 per night. You can include lodging for a person who is traveling with the person needing the medical care. This includes a parent traveling with a sick child or travel to be with a sick spouse.

The Letter of Medical Necessity (LOMN) form is available on your member website. Under the Resource Center, click on "Administrative Forms – Reimbursement Account Forms."

Under IRS rules, expenses must be for medical care. However, some expenses may be partly medical and partly personal. These are "dual-purpose expenses". For these expenses we need documentation from the doctor – a doctor's note – that a product or service is recommended to treat a specific medical condition. This is a Letter of Medical Necessity (LOMN).

Note: You'll have to submit the LOMN with your claim.

- The LOMN must:
 - > Be written, signed and dated by a licensed health care provider
 - > State the diagnosed medical condition
 - > State the recommended treatment
 - > State the duration of treatment*
 - > State the patient's name
- Some common examples of a dual purpose expense needing a LOMN are:
 - > Massage therapy
 - > Exercise equipment or gym membership
 - > In-home spa
 - > Vitamins and Supplements

* A Letter of Medical Necessity (LOMN) is good for one (1) year from the date it was written.

Your HRA, LHRA or RRA may reimburse health care premiums. Note: The HRA, LHRA or RRA cannot reimburse premiums paid with pretax salary deferrals. It can only reimburse premiums paid with after-tax money. If your plan allows for such reimbursements:

- You must include a copy of the invoice and proof of payment.
- If you're submitting a pay stub, it must show that you paid for the premium with after-tax money. The pay stub should have wording such as post-tax or after-tax for this expense.
 - > If you're sending in a letter or note on company letterhead stating that you pay for the premium with after-tax money from your paycheck, it must be signed by a company official.
- If you're on Medicare, follow these instructions when submitting your claim.
 - > Medicare Part B – The first time you're requesting reimbursement for a new calendar year, enclose a copy of your "Notice of Medical Insurance Enrollment and Premium Deduction." You'll get this from the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). For the rest of the year, you'll only need to complete a claim form for ongoing reimbursement.
 - > Medicare Part D, Medigap or other medical coverage – Include a copy of the invoice and proof of payment.

* If you are unsure of an expense, please refer to the list of common eligible health care expenses on your member website.

Dependent Care Claims (Child or Adult):

If your plan allows, you can be reimbursed for work-related care for a “qualifying person.” A qualifying person is your child under age 13 or an older dependent or spouse who is not capable of self-care. You can find more information about qualifying persons in IRS Publication 503. Go to www.irs.gov.

 If you are unsure of an expense, please refer to the list of common eligible dependent care expense on the Inspira Financial member website.
