

Hamilton College Faculty Open Access Policy

resolution for consideration at the May 17, 2017 faculty meeting

The Faculty of Hamilton College is dedicated to making its research and scholarship widely available and committed to open-access practices in disseminating its scholarly work.

In pursuing these ends, each faculty member grants to Hamilton College a nonexclusive, worldwide license to exercise any and all rights under copyright relating to each of their scholarly articles, in any medium, provided that the articles are not sold for a profit, and to authorize others to do the same. Hamilton College grants these rights in turn to the authors themselves, so faculty members may exercise the same rights.

The granting of this license applies to all scholarly articles authored or co-authored by Hamilton College faculty that are completed after June 30, 2017. This license will have no effect on the copyright ownership of faculty articles, which remains with the authors unless they assign them to another party.

The license is revocable at will for individual articles. If directed by a faculty author, the Dean of Faculty or the Dean's designate will automatically waive application of the license for a particular article or delay access to it for a specified period.

Faculty members are encouraged to provide the final manuscript of their scholarly articles to the Dean of Faculty or the Dean's designate. All articles will be archived in Hamilton College's institutional repository and, except those exempted by waiver, made freely available to the public.
