

2014-15 HSMB Report

The Title IX Coordinator received nine reports of potential violations under the College's Sexual Misconduct Policy. Three of the students elected to pursue formal complaints.

- One student was found responsible for non-consensual sexual contact and was suspended for one semester.
- One student found responsible for non-consensual sexual penetration and was expelled.
- One student was found responsible for stalking, and received a one-semester suspension.

Of the remaining six reports:

- One student elected to have the Title IX Coordinator and Dean Landry meet with the alleged perpetrator to issue a no contact order.
- One student could not identify the alleged perpetrator.
- Two students reported separate incidents that occurred in fall of 2013, and did not wish to pursue further action.
- One student reported an incident that happened in fall 2012; since the alleged perpetrator was no longer a Hamilton student, the complainant chose not to pursue the incident further.
- One student reported an incident that occurred while studying abroad in fall 2013; although the complainant chose not to identify the alleged perpetrator, the incident nevertheless was relayed to the host study abroad institution.

In addition, the Title IX Coordinator received reports from eight students regarding behavior that may have fallen under the Harassment and Discrimination Policy. None of the students chose to make formal complaints. Of the reports:

- Five resulted in no contact orders being issued.
- One case involved a contract employee, who no longer may be assigned to work at Hamilton.
- In two of the reports, the alleged individuals – including one situation involving harassing behavior on YikYak against members of a sorority – could not be identified.
